UCAD international strategy as for the LiderAfrica Consortium's mobilities

- One of the major ambitions of the Cheikh Anta Diop University of Dakar (UCAD) is to strengthen its international cooperation and influence.
- Ranked as the top university in French-speaking Africa, UCAD is open to the world with more than 300 active agreements, the majority of which are exchange programs.
- Our aim is to raise UCAD's profile on the world stage and to draw on our experience in participation and management programs . Cheikh Anta Diop University has been committed to internationalization for many years, drawing on its long experience in managing cooperation agreements with universities around the world.
- UCAD has built up a high-performance academic environment by welcoming mobile students and lecturers, as well as administrative and technical staff who regularly carry out assignments there.
- This translates not only into a wide range of teaching options supported by innovative teaching methods, but also into a host environment adapted to international academic standards in terms of international mobility, while respecting standards linked to sustainable development objectives.

UCAD international strategy as for the LiderAfrica Consortium's mobilities

- UCAD will contribute its experience in mobility management and intercultural promotion to the LiderAfrica consortium..
 - As a member of several university consortia, UCAD will focus on research into migration, postcolonial studies, interculturality and ecopoetics.
 - Based on its experience with two other joint interdisciplinary master's programs funded by Erasmus Mundus on 'Transnational migration' and 'European literary cultures'.
